

In the community

There are resources in every community to support families and children. You may use this sheet to help you organize these resources. Some counties have resources listed online, others have a “211” database or have a resource book. Having resources at your fingertips will make you more efficient. If your local office keeps an up-to-date resource book in any form you may substitute it for this chart. You will use this information for institute assignments and in your day-to-day work as a caseworker.
